VALUABLE DEVELOPMENT FOR BULLOCH COUNTY

EXPERIENCED GROWER SETS OUT GRAPES AND FIGS FOR MARKET ON LARGE SCALE.

The article regarding a recent agricultural development which has been inaugurated in Bulloch county, was written by Roy Swindel, special writer for the Savannah Press:

That South Georgia can compete successfully with California in growing fancy table grapes and figs for the market is the belief of Marion G. Carbone, former professor of mechanical engineering at Columbia University, and to demonstrate this belief Mr. Carbone and a number of associates have planted 100 acres of grapes and figs on a large farm in Bulloch county a few miles below Stillson.

In addition to the purchase price of the land, more than $35,000 has been expended since the first of the year in developing the farm, much of which was pine woods.

The sight at the farm is an imposing one. There are more than 100,000 grape vines, including 45 varieties, and 5,000 young fig trees planted and there are other thousands that are bedded down in a nursery ready to be put out as soon as the land is ready for them.

The grapes are of the very finest imported Italian, Spanish and other varieties direct from those countries and from California, all of them being for table use. The figs of which there are a number of varieties, are those kinds most suitable for shipping.

Having spent ten years in California as manager of one of the largest vineyards and fig farms in that state, Mr. Carbone has given the growth of these products very close study.

"In my opinion, Georgia, especially the southern portion, has every advantage that California can boast of for the growing of grapes and figs, and we can save at least $35 a ton on freight on the shipments to New York and other large centers," Mr. Carbone declared. "Those of us who have gone into this project feel that within the next few years we will be able to compete most successfully with California. The climate here is unsurpassed for the growing of grapes and figs, and I have never seen a soil better fitted for them. Moisture is near the surface and with the irrigation system we will use, there should be no reason why we should not get as great a yield as the best farms of California."

"In addition to the great saving in freight, which will permit us to greatly undersell the California product and still make a splendid profit, the investigation we made of transportation facilities showed that there is no better system to be found anywhere than we can secure out of Savannah. Where we can put our product on the New York market in from three to five days, it takes 14 to 21 days for the California fruit to travel across the country."

All of the vines and trees, with the exception of 2,000 grape vines and cuttings that were put out last year, have been set out during the past month. The average growth of the grape vines during the warm days of March has been at the rate of an inch a day, and some vines show a growth of a foot.

There is nothing haphazard about the way the vineyards are laid out. It was all done to scale, a transit being used to make the layout accurate. The vineyards are planted in blocks of 250 by 300 feet, the vines being eight feet apart. Each block is divided by large avenues, and two rows of figs are planted in between each avenue. There is ample space for the turning of the huge tractors used in the cultivation on all sides of the blocks and in addition large spaces for the trucks and vehicles used to haul the grapes from the field. The avenues make it convenient for the pickers to dump their loads.

Beside each vine there is a stake, which will give way to wood trellises as the vines begin to spread. The vines are three years old before they begin to bear grapes in any quantities, for prior to that time they are pruned down almost to the ground each year in order to make a strong

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS TO ATTEND HIGHWAY MEETING

Savannah, Ga., April 6.—Probably the largest array of distinguished governors, senators and congressmen that ever attended a good roads convention or a meeting of civic organizations will be in attendance at the fifteenth annual convention of the United States Good Roads Association and the eleventh annual convention of the Bankhead National Highway Association and the United States Good Roads Show that will be held in Savannah June 6th-11th.

The official announcement is made that the following governors have accepted invitations to attend the convention:

Gov. Clifford Walker, of Georgia; Gov. Bibb Graves, of Alabama; Gov. J. G. Richards, of South Carolina; Gov. W. J. Fields, of Kentucky; Gov. Ben S. Paulsen, of Kansas; Gov. Hal Byrd, of Virginia; Gov. J. E. Erickson, of Montana; and Gov. Austin Peay, of Tennessee.

In addition to the above named governors, Dr. L. G. Hardman, governor-elect of Georgia, also Ex-Governors W. W. Brandon, of Alabama; Thomas J. McLeod, of South Carolina; and J. A. Whitcomb, former governor of Oklahoma, will be in attendance at the convention.

The following senators have accepted invitations:

W. J. Harris and W. E. George, of Georgia; Hugo Black, of Alabama; Royall S. Copeland, of New York; Tasker L. Oddie, of Nevada, who is vice-president of the United States Good Roads Association.

Several other senators have written that they are making every effort possible to arrange their affairs so they can attend, and they will notify Director General Rountree of their acceptance if they can possibly attend. Congressmen E. B. Almon, W. B. Bankhead and H. B. Stegall, of Alabama; W. J. Sears, of Florida; Frank H. Gardner, of Indiana; J. J. McSwain, S. J. Gasque, Butler Hare and Thomas S. McMillan, of South Carolina; Congressmen Charles G. Edwards, L. J. Steele, Charles M. Brand, Samuel Rutheford and M. C. Tarver, of Georgia, will also attend.

In addition to the senators, congressmen and governors that have accepted invitations, more than thirty highway commissioners, engineers and other road officials will be in attendance, as well as other prominent men and women from every walk of life, will take part in the convention.

The outlook is most flattering for the greatest good roads gathering that has ever assembled in the country.

APPLICATIONS FOR LOANS SHOULD BE SENT BY MAIL

Atlanta, Ga., April 4.—"Applicants for loans on adjusted service certificates applying personally to the Georgia Regional Office of the U. S. Veterans Bureau expecting by this procedure to receive check in person are doomed to disappointment. Adjustments for making loans on adjusted service certificates by the U. S. Veterans Bureau do not permit the personal delivery to the veterans of checks, but these arrangements are based on the idea that the most of the applications will be received through the mails and even though personal applications are made checks are to be delivered through the mails only. It is manifest, therefore," points out J. G. C. Bloodworth, Jr., director of the Veterans' Service Office of the State of Georgia, "that a trip to Atlanta is by no means necessary or desirable and is calculated to in no way hasten the receipt of checks by applicants for loans. All veterans are, therefore, urged to use the mails in making applications."

"Blank notes and certificates of identification can be secured from all posts of the American Legion, chapters of the Disabled American Veterans and from postmasters. Information as to the amount of money that can be borrowed on a certificate is contained on the back of the blank note. The note should be filled out for the amount to be borrowed, the certificate of identification executed, and together with the adjusted service certificate mailed to the Georgia Regional Office of the U. S. Veterans Bureau, 19 Pine St., N. E., Atlanta. We advise sending these papers by registered mail."

CORN CAN BE GROWN PROFITABLY IN GEORGIA

Corn can be made a profitable crop in Georgia, Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the Georgia State College of Agriculture told his radio audience in a recent talk over Station WSB, Atlanta. As with other crops, the secret of success is high yields per acre.

Dr. Soule based his conclusion upon the 1926 five-acre corn contest entered by 762 Georgia farmers representing 80 counties. The certified reports of 109 farmers showed, according to Dr. Soule, that they grew an average of 65.36 bushels of corn per acre at a cost of 47.5 cents per bushel. Their average net profit was $34.25 per acre. The average corn profits of farmers generally throughout the state were $1.65.

The tradition that corn must be grown on bottom land was shattered for, of the contestants turning in certified reports, 64 grew their corn on upland areas, 35 on bottom land, while 10 did not designate the type of soil used.

"Eighty-nine of the farmers reported the use of top dressing materials," said Dr. Soule. "The amount applied varied from 40 to 400 pounds per acre and the average was 139 pounds per acre. Of those reporting, 76 used nitrate of soda, 9 sulphate of ammonia, 1 nitrate of lime and 3 a combination of nitrate of soda and sulphate of ammonia. The preponderant use of nitrate of soda is worthy of note. In the great majority of instances, 200 pounds of nitrate of soda were applied. The first application was made when the corn was about 12 to 15 inches high and the second, when it was about 24 to 36 inches high."

Results obtained from the application of nitrate of soda as a top dressing and in connection with other fertilizing materials at various experiment stations of the South, are enlightening on the successful growing of corn. In Mississippi, the fertilization of twenty varieties with 200 pounds of nitrate of soda increased the yield on the average of 10 bushels per acre and the profits $2.00 net per acre.

In tests conducted in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama by the United States Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Plant Industry in co-operation with the States Relation Service, the application of 100 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre when the corn is approximately 18 inches high, showed an average of 30.1 bushels without nitrate of soda and 39.4 bushels with nitrate of soda. Proper rotation of crops and judicious use of supplemental fertilizers will increase the present yield of corn anywhere from 10 to 20 bushels.

Dr. Soule urged all Georgia farmers to enter the Five-Acre Corn Contest in 1927.

SOIL BUILDING MEETING.

On Monday, April 11, at 4 p. m., there will be held a field meeting at Leslie NeSmith's place near Nevils. The purpose of this meeting is to study the vetch plots which Mr. NeSmith has sown. It is hoped that we will have a representative from the State College of Agriculture who will talk on the subject of winter legumes. E. P. JOSEY, County Agent.

MOTHER ASKS DAMAGE FOR DEATH OF HER SON

HERBERT HEDELESTON KILLED
BY LIVE WIRE OF GEORGIA
POWER COMPANY.

In superior court Monday afternoon Fred T. Lanier, representing Mrs. Susie Hedleston, filed a suit against the Georgia Power Company for $30,000 for the death of Herbert Hedleston, 16-year-old son of the plaintiff, in December of last year.

The lad was killed when he came in contact with a live wire of high voltage hanging low over the roof of the NuGrape bottling plant. He was assisting his father, S. B. Hedleston, in repairing the roof and in passing under the wire he touched it with fatal results. The wire was one from which the insulation had been worn by the weather, and negligence is charged against the power company in permitting it to remain where it was. It had previously been part of connection into the rear of the building; in that block, but is understood to have been discontinued in use, though remaining attached to the supply wire which gave it high voltage.

It is alleged in the petition that the young man was earning $18 per week at the time of his death, which he contributed regularly to his mother. Upon this and his increasing earning capacity that the damage claim is based. His life expectancy was arrived at from the legal table used in such estimates and from this calculation the amount of damages is arrived at.

At the time of the fatal accident the power company was styled the South Georgia Power Company, but has since been taken over by the consolidated company under the name of the Georgia Power Company.

Mr. Lanier will have associated with him Oliver and Oliver of Savannah in the prosecution of the suit.

KNOX ARRESTED HERE ON DESERTION CHARGE

A young man of splendid appearance, about 30 years of age, who has been doing piano tuning in Statesboro for the past few weeks and posing as W. H. Lee, but whose real name is W. L. Knox, was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Policemen Sidney Smith and Larry Mallard and was yesterday returned to Sandersville under a reward of $50 offered there charging him with desertion of his wife and infant. It is also understood that a charge of cheating and swindling awaits him there.

It develops that Knox first married a Statesboro young woman, Miss Olga Lee, from whom he separated and who is now living in Savannah. Afterwards he married again and it is the second wife and her infant whom he is charged with having deserted. Older citizens recall that Knox is also the son of a Bulloch county woman, a former Miss Lee, a relative of the young man's first wife. The elder Knox returned from Florida to this city and lived here about 30 years ago, conducting a small grocery business in a little house which stood on the lot now occupied by the postoffice.

GEORGIA GLEE CLUB HERE FOR PERFORMANCE TONIGHT

The members of the Georgia Glee Club, billed for a performance at the Georgia Normal auditorium this evening, arrived at 11 o'clock this morning from Savannah, where they presented their attract on last evening. They are traveling in their special car and carry with them a large quantity of equipment for use on the stage.

Their appearance here is under the auspices of the American Legion, and the advance sale of tickets up to the present indicates a large attendance this evening. The performance opens at 8:30 o'clock.

STATESBORO'S IMPORTANCE AS A LIVESTOCK CENTER

Figures handed us by G. E. Bean, local agent of the Central of Georgia Railway, disclose that during the past twelve months there have been shipped from Statesboro over that road 56 carloads of hogs and 101 carloads of cattle.

These figures will be a surprise to even those who have noted the more or less regular movement of livestock from this place during the past few months.

Going further into details, the figures show that the 56 carloads of hogs totaled 6,674 head, and in the 101 carloads of cattle there were 4,222 head.

Statesboro has not paraded herself as an important livestock center, but the figures will at least serve to remind us that we are growing a few money-producers besides cotton.

Besides the figures given above, the movement of goats has been immense, and at the present moment is at its height. During the present week there have already been shipped in one day 40 crates of goats, and on another 26 crates, a total of 494 head. During the last of the week there is being arranged a special goat sale which is counted upon to bring in not fewer than 400 additional head. W. L. Jones, local agent of the express company, states that not fewer than 3,000 have been shipped from Statesboro during the year.

If there were any way to count the number of chickens that have been carried out of the county, or the number of dozens of eggs, the figures would startle those who saw them in print.

LAND AND LEASES SELL AT SATISFACTORY PRICES

At public sale before the court house Tuesday, the interest of J. A. McDougald, deceased, in the McDougald-Page Co., located south of the city limits, brought $26,000, and was bought by Mrs. J. A. McDougald. The holdings consisted of three-fourths interest in the lands of the company on which the farm and still site are located and the turpentine leases held by the company. B. V. Page holds the other fourth interest in the property.

Bidding was lively from the start, indicating a strong demand for turpentine properties at the present time. W. E. McDougald is administrator of the estate.

CLARK BECOMES OWNER OF PARKER & CLARK STABLES

Under terms of a deed filed for record Monday, G. W. Clark became the sole owner of the property occupied by Parker and Clark as a sales stable and formerly owned jointly by himself and F. C. Parker. The consideration recited in the deed puts the valuation of the property at approximately $15,000. It is the brick stable building erected by the late W. T. Smith, and fronts on Vine street, with an entrance also on an alley leading from East Main street.

BOOTH MADE PRESIDENT OF FAIR ASSOCIATION

AKINS GIVEN OFFICE OF MAN-AGER IN ADDITION TO THE DUTIES OF SECRETARY.

At a meeting of directors of the Bulloch County Fair Association on Friday, Hinton Booth was elected president to succeed J. Barney Averitt, who resigned on account of his personal business engagements. At the same meeting of the board Lewis A. Akins was made manager of the fair, which office is in addition to the duties of secretary which have been his for the past five years.

For two years Mr. Averitt has held the presidency, which he accepted reluctantly from a sense of duty. Mr. Booth has been a member of the board of directors and legal advisor to the association for ten years or longer, serving entirely without compensation, which he will likewise do in his new office.

The date for holding the fair next fall has been tentatively set as the first week in October. This date was selected as perhaps the most suitable from many standpoints. The schools of the county will not have opened at that time, therefore it will be possible to offer special attractions to the children without interfering with the school work. At the same time cotton will have been harvested, giving freedom to those who wish to attend, as well as giving funds for the same purpose. Last fall the fair was held in November, which date, it was discovered, was rather late, the weather at that time being so cold as to make it disagreeable out of doors, while the income from the harvested crops had been largely spent.

Mr. Booth and Mr. Akins will join together in an effort to make the coming fair a success in every way, endeavoring to give full value to the patrons while at the same time holding expenditures within bounds which will spare the stockholders from the necessity of making up deficits which have followed the operations in the past years.

MERCER GLEE CLUB TO BE IN STATESBORO WEDNESDAY

Spice, variety, snappy jazz, tuneful ballads, all contrasted with difficult chorus numbers, in the manner in which the performance of the Mercer 1926-27 Glee Club can be summed up.

The whole show has its appeal to everyone. Every taste is catered to and satisfied. High lights of the bill would be hard to pick out, as the entire performance is one continuous brilliant high light.

Most of the old men are back and their well known faces can be seen on the stage when the songsters give their performance at the Georgia Normal School auditorium Wednesday evening, April 7th. Ralph Tabbar, last year's club president, will tickle the piano keys as of old in that style that is only Ralph's.

Noble Arnold and Riley ("Sunshine") McKey are back to hold down the black face comedy of the minstrel. Both have been with the songsters for three seasons and their work needs no comment.

The orchestra of twelve pieces is under the direction of the veteran dance leader, Bob Lee. They furnish one of the brightest spots of the program. This college jazz band cannot be rivalled in the south. It is worth the price of admission alone to hear them.

There are a number of clever acts that furnish relief from the more difficult parts of the program. A surprise act furnished by the two comedians deserves mention for its catchiness and cleverness.

A dialogue between Noble Arnold and Dan Benon will keep any audience in roars of laughter. Wherever it has been given it has made a distinct hit.

The whole program is good and a better evening's entertainment cannot be offered. The performance Wednesday evening, April 13th, will be at the Georgia Normal and the curtain will rise promptly at 8:30.

When you find a man who can eat heartily when a pretty girl is looking straight at him you can know he is hungry.

QUALITY AT LOW COST

A REPRESENTATIVE CITIZEN APPEALS TO THE VOTERS

Editor, Bulloch Times:
Will you please give me space in your valuable paper for a few lines to the voters of the Ogeechee school district?

Dear brothers and friends, we are to vote on April 12th for a school house. As I see it, we are without a school house. The district has been marked off and the people have voted for the consolidated district about three to one. We cannot have a school until a house is built. Now, won't you join me and vote for a house on the 12th of April? We have in our district about $340,000 of taxable school property to be taxed, which would make about 5 mills or less levy on an average for the entire term the bonds would run to raise what would be needed. A little more than that at first and less towards the last. If the state gives $500.00 per year to consolidated schools as planned, we would only have the interest on bonds to pay as this five hundred from the state each year will pay the bond for each year. Nothing but a consolidated school will be in line to get this $500.00 from the state.

I feel like it would be a credit to our people to come together and work for such a school. We can pay the taxes and it will not hurt any of us. So let us open our hearts to right and duty towards our children. I like to think of our good citizens like L. V. Simmons, Waley Lee and Lonnie Zetterower and others of this district. The advantage of a good school would be that your children could get an education at home. Your lands will be more valuable. You could get good white tenants to farm your good lands, whereas without schools you will find every year the people are moving out of our section and going to where they can put their children in good consolidated schools or to towns where they will put them in schools. And remember, too, these schools they are going to be bonded for their buildings.

We are entitled to the best for our children and are able to have it. Let us not permit the old 48th to lag behind. We have nothing to lose with a consolidated school. It is not good citizenship to be divided, so let us come together as one for a school, and if we can't agree, then let the courts decide for us. We can't give up or school rights until it is settled right. I am sure our boys and girls would rather go to a high school in our own district where they can get an education near home. And we all would soon be loving our school and working together in harmony. My own children are all through school, but I am anxious to see a school for my neighbors' children and am willing to vote for bonds and help pay. This is my first appeal to my neighbors through the newspapers. I am 73 years old and was raised up when there were practically no school advantages, so I realize the needs of our children along this line.

Love and best wishes to all.
Yours truly,
L. B. HAGAN.

MERCER GLEE CLUB

COMING HERE APRIL 13TH

A feature of the program of the Greater Mercer Glee and Instrumental Club, appearing here on Wednesday, April 13th, is a chorus of 26 trained voices. This chorus is under the direction of Dr. Burt Parker Richardson, head of the chemistry department at Mercer. Dr. Richardson is well fitted to handle this work, as he has studied music abroad as well as having had quite a bit of experience in chorus singing. He has been director of the songsters for three seasons, and this year has one of the best trained groups of singers that he has ever produced. Dr. Richardson possesses a tenor voice of rare quality, and is a member and director of a very prominent Macon church choir. The Glee Club chorus has received much favorable comment from newspapers over the South this season. The Milledgeville Times is a good example. That paper says: "By far the best part of the program was the splendid ensemble work done under the direction of Dr. Burt Parker Richardson, including 'Water Lilies,' which was without question the gem of the repertoire. 'Robin Hood' and 'Old Black Joe' were also enthusiastically received. The voices blended in harmony produced only by thorough training, and the entire performance was a credit to the club, its director and the college they represent."

VOLUNTEERS OF AMERICA A WORTHY INSTITUTION

The rescue and maternity home of the Volunteers of America in Savannah is situated at No. 442 Tattall street. The building is a two-story brick consisting of five sleeping rooms and a parlor upstairs, two dining rooms, a kitchen and a storeroom for supplies. This home is open at all times to visitors. An invitation is extended to the inhabitants of Bulloch county to visit the home and to meet Captain and Mrs. W. F. LaRowe, who are in charge of the Savannah post.

During the last six months the rescue home has taken care of twelve individuals from Bulloch county, viz: Two destitute women, three men, and a family consisting of a mother and six little daughters, who were in the home for three months before relatives could be found to give the family a home. Every county in South Georgia is represented in the files of the home. No worthy case is refused support.

The Volunteers were born thirty years ago with American ideals and principles. It is an international organization, a philanthropic and home missionary movement. Captain and Mrs. W. F. LaRowe in charge of the Volunteers of America make the following report of the first six months of their work in South Georgia: Income, $2,480.46; expense, $2,490.17; number of persons aided, 661; persons aided with groceries, etc., 3,773; meals to men, 143; number of beds to women and children in the home, 1,257; number of beds to men outside the home, 31; shoes given, 40 pair; garments given, 274; medical aid given, 184; transportation given, 9; employment procured, 16; open air meetings held indoors and outdoors, 25; number families visited, 205; number families visited and prayed for, 119.

When it costs $10 a word to telephone from New York to London it must be terrible to have the telephone girl give you the wrong number.

Wrigley, the chewing gum king, is like Henry Ford in one respect: he can always get about a million dollars' worth of free advertising for every $50,000 he gives away.

ZANE GREY'S NOVEL

THURSDAY and FRIDAY, April 7th-8th

"WANDERER OF THE WASTELANDS"
With Jack Holt and Kathryn Williams. Adapted to the screen by George C. Hull. Directed by Irvin Willat. This picture is in natural colors (technical process) remember the beauty of "Kiki" and "Irene," well that same beauty will be found in "Wanderer of the Wasteland." This is one of the outstanding pictures of last year. Everything points to super-attraction—the cast, directing, story, author, natural colors. The novel is one of the most widely read novels of many years. "SHOULD SAILORS MARRY?" is the comedy. It will make you swell as the ocean waves—it's a Pathé Comedy.

Drama of Modern England

SATURDAY and MONDAY, April 9th and 11th

"STELLA MARIS"

With Mary Philoin and Elliott Dexter, adapted from the novel by William J. Locke. A Charles Brebin production. A Universal-Jewel. "Stella Maris," she was beautiful, innocent and rich, and two men loved her. She made her choice, only to be plunged into the black depths of despair when she found her lover was already married and then her guardian, a double role in this picture that of "Stella Maris" and that of "Unity Blake." She cooked for him, she scrubbed for him, she saved his life, she killed for him. Who was he? Her guardian. And he, a little hopeless "savior," let little Mary Philoin give you the year's big thrills in a marvelous two-part role. "SOMEWHERE IN SOMEWHERE" is the comedy.

COMEDY DRAMA OF RUSSIA

TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY, April 12th-13th

"THE DUCHESS OF BUFFALO"

With Constance Talmadge and Tullio Carminati, screen story by Hans Kraly, based on the Hungarian play, "Sylvia." A Sidney Franklin production. Something new in love, romance and adventure. Produced on a lavish scale by Joseph M. Schenck. Connie's a wow in this one. Darkest Russia got brighter than a Florida real estate booklet when Connie put on her dancing silken robes howled with delight, the Russian eagle screamed for lilac water, she danced on her toes, put Russia on its ears, had her sweetest standing on his head. She's a fake Grand Duchess, but a real comedy queen. Where joy was king in the Russian court she was a Grand Duchess. "PATHE NEWS, No. 27"—the best newspaper on earth, the world's newspaper. We would like some comments and better patronage for the news reel, else we will soon have to discontinue this service. Music by the mighty Electrola-Hyperion and the Seaburg Orchestra.

JOINS FOUNDATION IN AIDING FARMER

Georgia Experiment Station
Cooperates With Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Program.

ANOTHER big cotton crop in 1927 doubtless will depress the market again as it did in 1926 and cause cotton growing to be decidedly unprofitable, according to H. P. Stuckey, director of the Georgia Experiment Station. This forecast was made by Mr. Stuckey in a lecture for the Radio Short Course over WSB, Atlanta, and which was conducted by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation in co-operation with the Soil Improvement Committee of the National Fertilizer Association.

"As a result of this situation," said Mr. Stuckey to his radio-farmer students, "cotton growers are very properly casting about for other cash crops to supplement their incomes from cotton. The southeast imports large quantities of hay every year. We can grow hay here cheaply from leguminous crops such as soy beans, cow peas, etc. Southern hay, properly cured and baled, will find a ready market in competition with hay shipped in from other regions. Soy beans, velvet beans and cowpeas are splendid grain as well as hay crops, and may be sold for seed purposes, as well as used for stock feed. Cowpeas also are in good demand for human food in practically all southern markets. These may be grown at a profit.

"The demand for peanuts for confectioneries and oil production is increasing annually, and a part of our cotton lands could be devoted to this crop at a profit. Any surplus of peanuts not finding a ready cash market easily could be converted into pork by feeding them to swine. The more fertile soils of the coastal plains are well adapted to sugar cane for the production of sirup. This finds a ready sale in the south and east. Sorghum is valuable both for sirup making and stock feed. There are two distinct markets for sweet potatoes. The Jersey variety is especially adapted to harvesting in late summer and shipped promptly to northern and eastern markets. There is room for considerable expansion in the growing of early varieties of sweet potatoes for shipment northward, while the moist varieties are more in demand in the south. These can be cured in storage houses and sold during the winter as the market demands.

"Some of the profitable crops of the coastal regions are spinach, kale and lettuce, to be shipped north in winter. Farms located near industrial plants and manufacturing centers will find it profitable to grow limited areas of tomatoes, mushrum and corn. This year should offer encouragement to the producer, for many industries are being developed in the southeast, and this means a larger consuming public and better markets for agricultural commodities.

Says Don't Depend on a Single Crop

"MAKE your plans each year so you will be safe, if it turns out to be one of the worst years." This was the advice given by W. C. Lasseter in a talk on "Food and Food Crops for the Southeast" during the Radio Short Course, conducted by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation over WSB, Atlanta.

Mr. Lasseter told his farmer-attendants not to embrace cotton as their sole means of support. In view of what happened in 1914, 1920, 1921 and 1926, he said that no man could doubt the wisdom or economy of having a practice which insures a constant preparedness for seasons like the one just past. It is no wonder, he asserted, that many a farmer feels the necessity of putting just a little greater proportion of his land into cash crops, with the hope of making a little money. One farmer who had been buying most of his feed told Mr. Lasseter that he was going to change, but wanted a guide to determine how much he should grow. Mr. Lasseter's answer to him was this:

"For each acre working 200 days a year you will need 50 to 65 bushels of corn or its equivalent in nuts. For each four-acre cow you will need 2 1/2 tons of legume hay, 25 bushels of corn, 40 bushels of oats, 700 pounds of cottonseed meal and one to two acres of pasture. For every hog you grow to 200 pounds you should have 18 bushels of corn or about 14 bushels with pasture. Each sow and two litters need 125 bushels of corn, 50 pounds of tankage and 90 pounds of shorts, and in feeding the average required for the season is mentioned make it a rule to start for a bad year."

Cooking Chat with 6 Famous Cooks

SOUPS AND THEIR SERVICE

It tells the stomach to get ready for the meal to come, and gets the digestive juices to working.

Light Soups with Big Meals
Bouillions or clear soups, piping hot, are best to serve with big meals. When soup is the first course, heavy cream or meat-vegetable soups are best.

Coppas Tomato Soup
1 quart sliced or canned tomatoes
1 carrot cut fine
1 onion cut fine
1 cup celery cut fine
1 green pepper sliced
2 whole cloves
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of black pepper
Put all ingredients into a saucepan and simmer for 1 hour. Strain and add a dash of lemon juice. This makes a hearty dish.

Washington Chouder
Washington chouder is almost a meal in itself. Add a half a pound of meat, a well-rounded potato, and a dash of lemon juice. This recipe is a well-known one. It is a hearty dish, and is a good one to serve.

Cucumber Soup
An unusual way to prepare cucumbers is given by Mrs. Sarah Ryan Korer, the Philadelphia cooking authority—cucumber soup. Grate two large cucumbers, add a pint of water, cover and simmer 15 minutes. Add a quart of milk, and two tablespoons of cream. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

Cream of Celery
Mrs. Korer's celery soup is simple to prepare. Use the following proportions: 1 cup of celery, 1 cup of water, 1 cup of milk, 1 cup of cream. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

The Best Base
Thin white sauce is the basis for cream soups. Use the following proportions: 1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup of milk. Mix the flour and butter together, and add the milk gradually. Stir constantly until thickened. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Suggested Soups
With the white sauce base many soups can be made. For potato soup add 1/2 cup mashed potato and a small amount of cream. For tomato soup add 1/2 cup tomato sauce and a small amount of cream.

Good
Good cream of tomato soup is made by heating separately 1/2 cup of tomato sauce and 1/2 cup of white sauce. Add the tomato sauce to the white sauce, and stir well. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Peasant butter soup, especially liked by children, and good for invalids, is made by adding 1 tablespoon peanut butter to each cup of white sauce.

Formal Service
When entertaining formally, the soup should be served in a tureen. Serve the soup in tureen cups or soup plates with saucers under them.

Drink from Cups
When clear soups are served in tureen cups, it is best to serve them in a glass. If the soup is thick, it is best to serve it in a bowl.

An easy way to clean oil stove grates is to boil them in salt soda thoroughly.

CUT COTTON COST, GROWER IS TOLD

National Fertilizer Chief
Cites Need in Farm Short Course.

THAT the cost of cotton belt acreage is rising to a point where the Mississippi river is the outstanding statement made by J. C. Pridmore, director of the Southern Division, National Fertilizer Association, in a talk for the Radio Short Course over WSB, Atlanta, in a two-week course conducted by Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation in co-operation with the Soil Improvement Committee of the National Fertilizer Association.

"Speaking of the economic situation prevailing over the southeastern states, it is absolutely essential for cotton growers in this territory to avail themselves of every possible means of reducing the cost of growing cotton," said Mr. Pridmore.

"Let me give you a picture of the expense of cotton growing west of the Mississippi river, where we now have approximately as much land devoted to cotton as the whole belt had five years ago. Not only is this true, but in that section it is possible for the farmers, through the use of machinery, to cultivate large areas and, thereby, make cheaper cotton than is possible in the southeastern states.

"To meet this situation and to grow cotton in competition with the farmers of the western states, it is apparent that the southeastern growers must use every possible means of making big yields per acre, which is the way to produce cotton at a low cost per pound. We not only must practice these methods known to influence yields, but fertilize more wisely than ever before. We must feed the cotton plants liberally to get a profitable harvest. The fertilizer must contain those plant foods that will meet soil deficiencies and supply crop requirements.

"The three elements—phosphoric acid, nitrogen and potash—in proportions to constitute a balanced ration."

Test Farmers in Radio Course

Asked 10 Questions Vital to Southeast's Agriculture in Better Farming Campaign.

CAN you answer any of these ten questions? Well, these are what the farmers of the southeast are expected to answer in the Radio Short Course, which closed its sessions January 14—a course broadcast over WSB, Atlanta, through Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation in co-operation with the Soil Improvement Committee of the National Fertilizer Association.

The questions are: 1. What constitutes a safe cropping program for the southeastern cotton farmer? 2. What are the outstanding defects in the one-crop system of farming? 3. What is a sound live stock program for the average cotton farmer? 4. What other cash crops than cotton can be grown successfully in the southeast? What in your community and why? 5. What are the advantages of high-acre yields? 6. Why are legumes and other organic matter valuable in improving the soil? 7. What plant food elements are carried in commercial fertilizers? 8. How are plant food needs of crops determined? 9. Why use pure-bred seed? 10. Assuming you are judge of the court in "The Trial of the Soil Robber," what would you require the defendant to do to restore his land to such fertility that he can grow crops profitably?

The course comprised seventeen discussions on farm problems by leading agricultural authorities of the southeast and it is estimated that 1,500 listened in from fifteen states. The final program consisted of a mock court, "The Trial of a Soil Robber," who was declared guilty of soil robbing. The radio students enrolled in the course are to write answers to ten practical questions covering the two weeks' course and those who submit the best 25 sets of answers will be awarded prizes, to be given by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. First prize is $15; second, $10, and third, $5. In addition, two leading southern farm textbooks will be sent to the writers of the next best 25 papers. These 25 winners may choose from "Live Stock and Poultry," "The Trial of the Soil Robber," "The Southern Field Crops" and "Farm Crops."

All examination papers must be mailed to reach the Foundation headquarters at Atlanta by Saturday, January 20. Announcement of the winners will be made over radio station WSB, at 8:15 o'clock Monday night, February 7, during the regular Monday night Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation radio hour.

Farmers Give Own Diagnosis

Radio Course Listeners Tell What Is Matter With South's Agriculture

GROW less cotton—more cows, fowls and hens is the new found creed of the southeast farmer, according to the first answers received to the "final exam" given at the close of the first radio short course in agriculture broadcast from WSB, Atlanta, by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation in co-operation with the Soil Improvement Committee of the National Fertilizer Association.

Two questions submitted to the students at the close of the course show that the farmer of the south Atlantic states has been won away from the idea that he must grow just one crop—cotton. "Grow diversified crops that will feed the family, the live stock and the land; let cotton be grown as a cash crop and not made to support the entire farm," is the way in which one of these radio students sums up the situation.

Unpaid balance of the short course to sell the farmer of the southeast the idea of raising enough live stock at least to feed his family, raising enough grain and hay to feed the live stock, and enough cover crops to replace in the soil the elements which are taken from it year by year by the continuous growing of crops.

The answers to this radio examination indicate that the farmer of the southeast has learned to pin solid faith in the advice of his county agent; that he is getting tired of gambling with one crop farming, and that he is going in for purebred seed, as well as purebred cows, hogs and chickens.

Three cash prizes are to be awarded to the three best examination papers submitted to the Foundation, and announcement of the winners will be made from the Atlanta radio station February 7.

ALTER TENANT SYSTEM

TURNER should be a decrease in the total cotton acreage to restore a balance to our farming system, according to D. W. Watkins, assistant extension director, Clemson college.

K. O., who discussed the "Cutting of the Cotton Acreage" in the Radio Short Course over WSB, Atlanta. This two weeks' course for farmers of the southeast was conducted by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation in co-operation with the Soil Improvement Committee of the National Fertilizer Association.

"Not only should there be a decrease in 1927, but in future years," said Mr. Watkins, "but when it comes to saying who is to do the reducing we find there are several different classes and conditions of farmers with which to deal. There are the farmers, all too few, who own their land, farm intelligently and while they are set back in years like 1926, manage to keep their heads above water and continue their independent, self-supporting way. This class already produces 80 to 90 per cent of their living on the farm. They do much of their own work and utilize labor saving machinery. They will not have to reduce as much as others.

"It is the duty of the landowners and others responsible for financing agriculture to bring about a different tenant system. Tenants should be led and required to give more attention to producing a living for themselves and to soil and farm improvement. This will automatically reduce their cotton acreage and will be beneficial to themselves and landowners.

"The light is at last beginning to dawn on all of us in the southeast, that we must be more self-contained and less dependent on one source of income. The southern farmer must learn to have his fields covered with a green crop every winter. Our mild, open winters permit of the loss of more soil fertility than is removed by crops. Northern soils are frozen and not subject to this loss. All these things have a direct bearing on the acreage in cotton in the southeast. The grower who follows these policies can continue to grow cotton, and after providing for a self-sustaining system of diversification, may in four out of five years produce cotton at a profit.

"The year 1927 is not a year to gamble on cotton production, but for the grower who uses the best seed and the best methods and the best side lines and who reduces acreage and cuts production costs, there is hope for 1927 and thereafter in cotton growing. Such a farmer cannot be put out of business because he is the veteran and expert who puts the other kind of grower out of business."

A penny could have saved him!

The man who owned this chick saved a penny. It would have cost him a penny more to have fed Purina Poultry Chows, and nine chances to one, Purina Poultry Chows would have saved the chick, but—the man thought he'd save a penny.

We want to see the man who likes to save his pennies. We can save him baby chicks—and dollars instead of pennies!

MERCER GLEE CLUB COMING HERE APRIL 13TH

The Mercer Glee and Instrumental Clubs have gone to unusual expense and trouble to equip themselves with the very latest tricks in scenic and electrical effects this season. The electrical effects rival that of a professional show. They are exceedingly beautiful, and are used throughout the performance. They are especially good during the orchestra act.

The scenic effects were designed by Roy L. Hurst, formerly business manager of the clubs. There are several drops of unusual beauty, besides the other effects. Mercer has the only glee club in the world to carry its own scenery and electrical effects is far greater than any road show carries today. In fact, the University has gone to as much expense on these two items as most clubs spend during the entire season. The scenery travel in their private car, which is combination baggage and passenger, so that this scenery and electrical equipment may be handled in the right manner.

The singers and musicians will appear here on April 13th at the Georgia Normal auditorium.
